Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.
The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

BIRTH OF THE MOON

LUNA WAS FLUNG OUT OF THE EARTH INTO SPACE.

She Once Filled, Perhaps, the Great Basin Now Occupied by the Pacific Ocean—Latest Ideas of Science as to Conditions on Our Satellite.

Millions of years ago the earth was not the land bound, sea swept globe so familiar to us, but a liquid mass on which floated crust some thirty-five miles thick. At that period, says the Strand Magazine, it turned on its axis at a constantly increasing speed that finally shortened the day to three hours. When that terrific velocity was obtained 5,000 cubic million miles of matter were hurled off by the enormous centrifugal force, and our moon was born. The cleaving of so large a body must have left some scar on the earth's surface. It has accordingly been suggested that the great basin now occupied by the Pacific ocean was once filled by what is now the moon.

Our moon has the distinction of being the largest of all planetary satellites—so large, indeed, that to the inhabitants of Mars it must appear with the earth as a wonderfully beautiful twin planet.

Because the moon rotates on its axis in exactly the same time that it revolves around the earth we are destined to see little more than one hemisphere. So slow is this rotation that the lunar day is equal to fifteen of our days. For half a month the moon is exposed to the fierce heat of the sun; for half a month it spins through space in the densest gloom.

Smaller in mass than the earth is, the moon's attraction for bodies must be correspondingly less. A good terrestrial athlete could cover about 120 feet on the moon in a running broad jump, and leaping over a barn would be a very commonplace feat. A man in the moon could carry six times as much and run six times as fast as he could on the earth.

Although separated from us by a distance that at times reaches 253,000 miles and is never less than 222,000 miles, we know more of the physical formation of the single pallid face that the moon ever turns toward us than we know of certain parts of Asia and the heart of Africa. Powerful telescopes have brought our satellite within a distance of forty miles of the earth. Physicists have mathematically weighed it and fixed its mass at one-eighth of the earth, or 73,000,000,000,000 tons.

The moon presents aspects without any terrestrial parallel. Rent by fires long since dead, its honeycombed crust seems like a great globe of chilled slag. Craters are not uncommon on the earth, but in number, size and structure they bear for the most part little resemblance to those of the moon.

A lunar crater is not the mouth of a volcano having a diameter of a few hundred feet, but a great circular plain twenty, fifty, even a hundred miles in diameter, surrounded by a precipice rising to a height of 5,000 or 10,000 feet, with a central hill or two about half as high.

Water cannot possibly exist as a liquid, for the temperature of the moon's surface during the long lunar night is probably not far from 460 degrees below the zero mark of a Fahrenheit thermometer, and the atmospheric pressure is so low that a gas under pressure would solidify as it escaped. Ice and snow are the forms, then, which lunar water must assume.

Because of the present paucity of water the moon's atmosphere is so exceedingly rare that startling effects are produced. Perhaps the most striking is that of the sunrise. Dawn and the soft golden glow that ushers in terrestrial day there cannot be. The sun leaps from the horizon a flaming sickle, and the loftier peaks immediately flash into light.

There is no azure sky to relieve the monotonous effects of inky black shadows and dazzling white expanses. The sun gleams in fierce splendor, with no clouds to diffuse its blinding light. All day long it is accompanied by the weird zodiacal light that we behold at rare intervals.

Even in midday the heavens are pitch black, so that, despite the sunlight, the stars and planets gleam with a brightness that they never exhibit to us even on the clearest of moonless nights at sea. They shine steadily, too, for it is the earth's atmosphere that causes them to twinkle to our eyes.

In the line of sight it is impossible to estimate distances, for there is no such phenomenon as aerial perspective. Objects are seen only when the rays of the sun strike them.

At times there may be observed spots which darken after sunrise and gradually disappear toward sunset. They cannot be caused by shadows, for shadows would be least visible when the sun is directly overhead.

They appear most quickly at the equator and invade the higher altitudes after a lapse of a few days. In the polar regions they have never been seen. What are they? Organic life resembling vegetation, answers Professor Pickering of Harvard university, vegetation that flourishes luxuriantly while the sun shines and withers at night.

A single day, it may be urged, is not sufficiently long for the development and decay of vegetation, but sixteen hours on the moon is little more than half an hour on the earth; a day lasts half a month and may be regarded as a miniature season.

The expressions "Hallelujah" and "Amen" are said to have been introduced into Christian worship by St. Jerome about A. D. 390.

DIZZINESS.

Various Causes That Bring About an Attack of Vertigo.

Dizziness, or vertigo—scientific writers sometimes try to distinguish in sense between these two words, but practically, in popular usage, they mean the same thing—is a disturbance of relation to the outside world, a loss of the sense of equilibrium. The sensation persists even when the eyes are closed. There is more or less inability to walk straight or even to stand still, and often there is nausea, followed by vomiting.

Vertigo is due to a disturbance, either actual or reflex, of the nervous "center of equilibrium" in the back part of the brain or in the semicircular canals in the ear, in which the terminations of the nerves coming from the center of equilibrium are distributed. For the most part, vertigo is a reflex trouble due to some impression which gets shunted off its own route, as it were, through nerve fibers connecting with the equilibrium center and acts upon the semicircular canals of the ear. Thus it is that dizziness is a comparatively trivial affection, as a rule—disagreeable enough, but brief and of no great significance except as a symptom of trouble elsewhere in the body.

Persistently recurring, transient dizziness is often due to eye strain—that is to say, to errors in the formation of the eye not corrected by proper glasses. Wearers of spectacles can frequently tell when a change in the eyes has occurred, necessitating a corresponding change in the glasses, by the coming back of these attacks of giddiness, especially when the gaze is suddenly moved from a near object to a remote one or the reverse.

Vertigo is a common symptom of disorders of digestion seated either in the stomach or the intestine. The treatment for this form is, of course, to treat the indigestion or constipation.

Another more serious variety of dizziness depends upon disease of the heart or of the blood vessels, especially those of the brain.

Any disease of the ear is apt to be associated with more or less vertigo. The same is true of tumor or other disease of the brain, especially of the cerebellum, that part of the brain in which the center of equilibrium is situated.

The dizziness of seasickness, as well as that of swinging or of rapidly turning about, is thought to be caused by an irritation of the nerves in the semicircular canals by the striking against them of the fluid in these canals.—Youth's Companion.

SOME FIRST OCCASIONS.

The first canal was made in England when Henry I. joined the Trent to the Witham, in 1134.

Quill pens came into use in 533; the first steel ones in 1820, when the first gross of them sold for $36.

The first pocket handkerchiefs, utilized in the manner they are today, were manufactured at Paisley in 1743.

From the press of the celebrated Wynken de Worde the first book containing musical characters was issued in 1495.

The first coins were struck in brass about 1184 B. C. and in gold and silver by Pheidon, tyrant of Argos, about 862 B. C.

About 70 A. D. the first glass bottle was made by the Romans, although the manufacture was not taken up in England until 1558.

Movable scenery was first used in theaters in 1508. It was invented by Baldassare Peruzzi and displayed in Rome before Leo X.

Pliny's "Natural History" may be regarded as the first encyclopedia, since it contained 30,000 facts compiled from 2,000 books by 100 authors.

Declined Her Own Medicine.

There is always more or less talk current about abolishing position and dispersing pelf. The trouble is to know just where to begin the destructive reconstruction and to find reformers who are willing themselves to be reformed. An English great lady was once entertaining the labor member of parliament, Henry Broadhurst, the Duke of Argyll and others at her country seat. She was a strong Liberal, and one evening inveighed against the house of lords. It would be swept away if it did not reform, she said with fervor.

"Yes," agreed Broadhurst, "and how will you like that, Mrs. P.?"

"Lady P., if you please, sir," instantly corrected Broadhurst's hostess, drawing herself up haughtily.

A River of Death.

Before the English occupation of India it was estimated that the Ganges carried to the sea every year 1,000,000 dead bodies. It was then considered by the Hindoos that the happiest death was one found in its waves, and all pious Hindoos who could do so were carried to its banks and placed in its waters to die. The decaying carcasses along its banks were probably responsible in no small degree for the pestilences which formerly desolated the peninsula.

Hard Work.

Mrs. A.—I'm surprised that your husband earns so little if he works as hard as you say. What does he do? Mrs. B.—The last thing he did was to calculate how many times a clock ticked in the course of 1,000 years.—London Tit-Bits.

The Hero.

"It must be nice to be a hero," remarked the quiet man.

"It is for a minute," replied Senator Badger. "After that the hero wonders at the world's bad memory."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

ON THE SPIRE.

Thrilling Incident In the Life of James Freeman Clarke.

When James Freeman Clarke was a young man he visited Salisbury, England. Here the beautiful cathedral lifts its spire 404 feet into the air. The spire is topped by a ball, and on the ball stands a cross. From the ground the ball looks like an orange, but its diameter is really greater than a man's height.

Workmen were repairing the spire. Mr. Clarke saw them crawling round the slim steeple in the golden afternoon like bugs on a bean stalk. The impulse came to him to climb the spire and stand on the horizontal beam of the cross. Accordingly at dusk, when the workmen had left, the young American slipped in and made his way up the stairs to the little window which opened to the workmen's staging. To run up the scaffolding to the ball was easy. Then came the slightly more bulging curve of the ball. A short platform gave him foothold. He reached up, put his hands on the base of the cross and pulled himself up. To gain the cross arm was merely "shinning" up a good sized tree, and soon he stood on the horizontal timber and, reaching up, touched the top of the cross.

After enjoying his moment of exaltation he slid to the foot of the cross, and, with his arms round the post, slipped down over the great abdomen of the ball. His feet touched nothing. The little plank from which he had reached up was not there!

Here was a peril and one for a cool head and sure eye. Of course he could not look down. The hugging hold that he had to keep on the bottom of the cross shortened the reach of his body and made it less than when he had stood on the plank and reached up to the cross with his hands. He must drop so that his feet should meet the plank, for he would never be able to pull himself back if he should let himself down at arms' length, and his feet hung over empty air.

Now his good head began to work. He looked up at the cross and tried to recall exactly the angle at which he had reached for it, to make his memory tell him just how the edge of that square post had appeared. A few inches to the right or to the left would mean dropping into vacancy.

Bending his head away back, he strained his eye up the cross and figured his angle of approach. He cautiously wormed himself to the right and made up his mind that here directly under his feet must be the plank. Then he dropped. The world knows that he lived to tell the tale.

MANILA'S SMALL BOY.

The Irrepressible Filipino's First Fourth of July Racket.

"Yes, I can tell something about the first real Fourth of July celebration in the Philippines," said one of the latest arrivals from Manila's military circles to a reporter of the Washington Star. "We were there in 1898, and Dewey's men had a bit of a hurrah time, but Old Glory hadn't been officially planted to stay, so the day passed quietly with the soldiers.

"But for 1899 there is another story. It had been planned by the wise guardians of law and order and the general peace that firecrackers should not be exploded anywhere in Manila except on the Luneta, which is usually as bare as a street pavement. The Luneta had its quota of bursting crackers, as the crowds there could testify, but the Manila small boy wanted more room for the great occasion. He invaded the crowded Escolta, where the high walls of the narrow streets echoed the reports and raised a din that was ear splitting to those not brought up on Fourth of July noises.

"So it was of no use to try to put a curb on Manila's first Fourth. Quiet was broken, and all the population joined in to swell the hum and the racket. The fun lasted all night."

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous diarrhea), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections, it is often successful in affecting cures.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine. For weak worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulæ of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glycerin extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

California Home and its Lack of Accommodations.

OWING to the over-crowded condition of the California Home for Feeble Minded Children at Eldridge, Dr. Dawson, the Superintendent, has been compelled from time to time to turn away the mind-bedimmed little patients committed to the institution which he presides over. Now, a test case is to be tried in the Superior Court of Tehama county to compel him to accept all feeble-minded children whether the institution can care for them or not.

The fact that the Home cannot accommodate the rapidly-increasing feeble-minded children of the State is certainly no fault of the Superintendent. The fault lies with the Legislature and the Governor. Time and again appropriations for enlarging the California Home at Eldridge to meet existing conditions have been demanded by the Superintendent and been turned down by our Legislatures or vetoed by Governors Budd, Gaige and Pardee in turn, with the result that the institution is now taxed to its utmost capacity and the poor little unfortunates for whom the Home was established must be turned away almost daily.

We would now call the attention of the forthcoming Legislature to this matter and urge upon its members the necessity of making ample provision for the erection of new buildings to accommodate all the feeble-minded children in California, and to override any veto that the next Governor may interpose. It is their duty to do this in the interest of humanity and to properly carry out the work of one of the most needful of our State institutions.

Will History Repeat Itself in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO is to have a Vigilance Committee to protect the lives and property of its citizens. Murders and robberies have been rampant in that city the past three months and the law seems powerless to cope with the situation. Emboldened by the grafting Schmitz administration and an apparent collusion between the police and lawless element, all the baser elements of society have flocked to that city to gain a livlihood through unlawful and desperate means. No man's life or pocket book is safe in San Francisco to-day, not even under the glare of the midday sun. The town is practically under the domination of men of the Cora and Casey stripe of fifty years ago, when Wm. T. Coleman, Sam Brannan and other leading citizens of San Francisco formed the Vigilance Committee of 1856 that struck terror to the hearts of its corrupt officials and the lawless element in general by hanging some, and putting to flight every thug, thief, gambler and grafting official that had made that city a saturnalia of crime until its manhood rose up in its might and took the law into its own hands.

Fifty years almost to a day have elapsed since those stirring times "which tried mens' souls." Is history to repeat itself after the lapse of half a century in poor, old grief-stricken San Francisco, which God only knows has had more than its share of troubles the past six months without having to contend against municipal grafters, corruption in high places, thugs, thieves and hold-up men? That something must be done, and quickly, too, to safeguard the law-abiding citizens of that city is apparent to any one who reads the daily papers of the metropolis. Crime is rampant everywhere in that city and if the criminal element is not throttled by the manhood of San Francisco before winter sets in martial law will have to be declared and the city turned over to the soldiery.

THE proposition to bond the county for $280,000 for a new Court House and other county buildings to be erected at Santa Rosa, the county seat of our local government, will be submitted by the Board of Supervisors to the voters at the general election to be held on Tuesday, November 6th. The bonds will bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent., and thirty-five years is given to pay them off and wipe out the debt from the county's ledger. The bonds will be of the denomination of $1,000 each, and for the first five years no payment will be made on them, but at the beginning of the sixth year, six of the bonds will be paid off, and for the ten years following six of the bonds will be redeemed annually. Ten bonds will then be taken up each year for the next ten years, and the decade following twelve bonds will be redeemed annually. This proposition of the Supervisors to provide the people of Sonoma county with necessary public buildings to replace those destroyed by the earthquake is the only business-like method of raising the revenue to meet a dilemma which some claim was an act of God, but surely was no fault of the Supervisors. A Court House and other county buildings we must have and the Board of Sdpervisors, be it said to their credit, has mapped out a plan for us to secure them at a cost to the taxpayer that will scarcely be noticed on his tax bills.

H. W. A. Weske for the Assembly.

The Republicans have placed before the people of this Assembly district, H. W. A. Weske of Santa Rosa. He is an able lawyer and has a clean record as a man and a Republican. For a number of years he has been the Secretary of the Republican County Central Committee, and has been an indefatiguable worker for the party and has served in the ranks for years without pay or reward. He is deserving at the hands of his party and should not be "scratched" for his Democratic opponent, as a United States Senator is to be elected at the forthcoming session of the Legislature. As for the candidate whom our friends, the enemy, have pitted against him we have aught to say against that candidate, but we do say that Mr. Weske is his equal in everything and if sent to the Legislature will serve his constituents faithfully and well. He should be supported by every voter who votes for the head of the Republican ticket. In fact a vote cast for Mr. Weske is simply an endorsement of Presidedt Roosevelt's administration.

THE FIRST GUN OF THE CAMPAIGN

Congressman McKinlay is Greeted by a Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

Congressman McKinlay opened the campaign in this place Saturday evening last and was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience, the ladies outnumbering the men two to one, and their Fall bonnets were just b—eau—tiful.

Ranald McDonell presided over the meeting and after a patriotic air by the brass band introduced several of the Republican county nominees to the audience, among them being H. W. A. Weske of Santa Rosa, nominee for the Assembly from this district. Mr. Weske, after a few well-timed remarks, which created a favorable impression, gave way to the principal speaker of the evening, Hon. Duncan E. McKinlay, who has served his constituents of the Second District in the House of Representatives faithfully and well the past two years.

Mr. McKinlay was received with enthusiasm and held his hearers spell-bound for over an hour with a flow of oratory that has never before been heard in Sonoma. Always a gifted orator Mr. McKinlay has certainly improved wonderfully the past two years and his command of the English language and his easy delivery were simply marvelous. He gave an entertaining account of his stewardship while in Washington and told in a convincing way how he secured the appropriations for the Santa Rosa Postoffice, a light house for the coast of Mendocino and many other appropriations for the benefit of the people of his district. His talk on the tariff was in such plain and forceful language that when he had concluded this part of his subject one marveled that there was any other side to the proposition except the Republican side.

After concluding his s eech it was plain to be seen Mr. McKinlay had created a favorable impression, cementing old-time party ties and creating new o nes.

At the conclusion of Mr. McKinlay's speech, during which he was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause, three cheers were given for the Republican party and the meeting stood adjourned.

FIRE AT EL VERANO

The D & B Stable Completely Destroyed With its Contents.

The B & B stable on Riverside avenue, El Verano, together with its contents, was completely destroyed by fire last Sunday night. The fire was discovered about 10 o'clock and made such rapid headway that little of its contents were saved. A valuable horse was so badly burned he had to be shot, and forty tons of hay, nine tons of barley, four buggies and several sets of harness went up in smoke.

A large force of volunteer firefighters were promptly on hand to combat the flames and by their efforts the D & B resort was miraculously saved as well as other pro perty in the near vicinity.

Mr. Jack Daughney, the owner, estimates his loss at about $1500, which was partly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The knocker is causing the county candidates to steer clear of this burg or make nocturnal visits when out campaigning.

Democratic Nominee for Congress in Town.

Hon. W. A. Beard of Sacramento, Democratic nominee for Congressman of this district, visited the various towns in this valley Wednesday. The distinguished visitor was accompanied by Deputy County Clerk Jack Ford, than whom no one is better acquainted or more popular down this way. The trip was a flying one and made in an automobile. Stops were made at Melitta, Kenwood, Glen Ellen, Eldridge, Agua Caliente and this place. From here the gentlemen speeded to Petaluma to attend a Democratic meeting in that city.

AN IMPRESSIVE HOME WEDDING.

Rea Hunter and Miss Perle Hanger Pledge Themselves to go Through Life's Journey Together.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hanger of this place was the scene of a pretty and impressive home wedding at high noon last Monday when Rea Barron Hunter claimed as his bride Miss Juno Perle Hanger, the youngest daughter of the household. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Luther Davis of Petaluma. Little Virginia Pomeroy, niece of the bride, was ring bearer while Miss Mayme Fochetti and C. W. Peck and Miss Hazel Gies and Julius Fochetti Jr., acted as attendants.

The bride was gowned in white silk and carried lilies of the valley. Miss Fochetti was very becomingly attired in a pale blue gown and her boquet was of bride's roses. Miss Gies' gown was pink and she carried bridesmaid roses.

After the ceremony the young couple left for Lake county, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will return to Sonoma and make t eir home with the parents of the bride.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hanger and a sister of Mrs. Campbell Pomeroy of Sacramento.

The groom is a very popular young man and is well-known in fraternal circles, being an Odd Fellow and Rebekah.

The presents were both profuse, costly and handsome.

That Mighty Duck Hunter.

Duputy County Clerk Jack Ford will come down from Santa Rosa Sunday to hunt ducks on the opening day. Rumor has it that Joe Keechler, superintendent of the Pacific Reclamation Company's ranch does not intend that Jack shall return to Santa Rosa empty handed even if it takes every hand on the ranch to bag the birds for him. Jack doesn't have to buy his ducks when he comes down here to hunt, as has been darkly hinted by lawyer Rollo Leppo of Santa Rosa. The boys, though, sometimes shoot them for him.

An Offical to Tie To.

Fred. L. Wright. nominee for County Clerk, is an official to tie to when it comes down to a plain business proposition. He has held the office for one term and if merit and fitness counts for anything he is most certainly entitled to another term. Since he was elected to the office four years ago he has comducted its affairs in the interests of the people and not as a political machine. The headheaded farmer in these days generally casts his ballot for the best man regardless of his politics. He contents himself in serving his party by voting the State and Legislative tickets, and then serves his own and neighbors' interests by casting his ballot for the best men of the two parties for the county offices. That is why Fred L. Wright's fitness for the offite of County Clerk calls to his support voters of all shades of political opinion. He is honest. He is capable. What more can one ask of a public servant?

THE FEEBLE MINDED HOME AT ELDRIDGE.

Test Case to be Tried in Tehama County as to its Overcrowded Condition.

Judge Thos. Graham of Tehama county recently committed two feeble-minded boys to the Home for Feeble Minded Children at Eldridge after Superintendent Dawson had refused to accept them on the grounds that the institution was already overcrowded. The object of bringing the boys before Judge Graham was to make a test case of the matter and get a decision as to whether or not Superintendent Dawson has the authority to decline to receive patients whether the Home be overcrowded or not.

The decision is looked forward to with much interest not only in Tehama county but elsewhere in this State, where children have been turned away from the institution owing to the lack of its accommodations.

Ducks and Quail.

The open season for ducks and quail commences next Monday, and local sportsmen are looking ahead in anticipation of some goood shooting. During the past week ducks have commenced making their appearance in the marshes south of town in large numbers, mostly sprig and mallard. These birds for the most part have been feeding on the overflowed ranches at Reclamation the past month and as most of the water has been drained off the inundated farms they have been forced to seek fresh water ponds in the vicinity of McGills and Sears' Point.

Quail are reported plentiful this year but it is safe to assume they will make themselves scarce as soon as the season opens. The instinct of this bird is wonderful and many hunters claim they they keep tab on the calendar and know when it is safe to be seen in the open. Many of the birds are not yet full grown and most of our local shooters will confine themselves to duck shooting, which ought to be good until the rains set in.

Squire Coulter is Nearing the End.

Miss Minnie Coulter, the popular candidate for re-election to the office of School Superintendent of this county, has been compelled to give up campaigning the past week, owing to the critical illness of her father, Squire Coulter of Santa Rosa, who may pass away at any moment. However, Miss Coulter's interests are being looked after by her many friends throughout the county and she is more than holding her own.

Entertained Her Little Girl Friends.

On Friday of last week Miss Gladys Simmons, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Simmons, entertained seventeen of her girl friends at the cozy home of her parents on Broadway, the occasion being her eleventh birthday. The little folks passed an enjoyable afternoon in playing games and partaking of dainty refreshments prepared and served by Mrs Simmons.

New Directory of Telephone Systems.

The new directory of the recently combined Sunset and Rural Telephone systems will be placed in the hands of subscribers the fore part of next week. During the past week the new phones of the Sunset company have been installed at the rate of five or six a day, and as the company wishes the names of all subscribers to appear in the new directory it has been thought advisable not to issue it until the work of putting in all the phones for which the company has contracts is completed.

VENDETTA IN KENWOOD.

One Man Invites Another to a Face Splitting Duel.

"When you come to Kenwood either I split your face, or you split mine. If you do not come I go to the coast."

These were the highly inflammable words uttered by Fernando Daddi, according to complaint made by L. Barsotti in Justice Atchinson's Court Thursday. The complainant alleges that the threat was voiced during a wild interview between the two men at Kenwood on or about August 24, Anno Domini 1906. Barsotti explained the going to the coast statement to mean that Signore Daddi would follow him westward as far as the Pacific and by the sad sea waves the face-splitting duel would be pulled off.

The victim in prospective objects to his features being violently and feloniously divided acording to the plans and specifications of the fierce Daddi, and asked the protection of the law. The court not recognizing the arbitrament of the medieval vendetta in modern Sonoma issued a warrant for the other man's arrest.—Press Democrat

PICTURESQUE ALGIERS.

All Its Streets Are Staircases, and All Are Safe.

Here is a pretty picture of Algiers by Frances E. Nesbitt: "Now it is possible to go safely into even the darkest and remotest corners, and they are dark indeed. A first visit leaves one breathless, but delighted—breathless, because all the streets are staircases on a more or less imposing scale—the longest is said to have at least 500 steps; delightful, because at every turn there is sure to be something unusual to a stranger's eye. The newer stairs are wide and straight and very uninteresting, but only turn into any old street and follow its windings in and out between white walls, under arches, through gloomy passages, here a few stairs, there a gentle incline, always up and always the cool deep shade leading to the bright blue of the sky above.

"Being so narrow and so steep, there are, of course, no camels and no carts. Donkeys do all the work and trot up and down with the strangest loads, though porters carry furniture and most of the biggest things. Up and down these streets comes an endless variety of figures—town and country Arabs, spahis in their gay uniforms, French soldiers, Italian workmen, children in vivid colors, Jewesses with heads and chins swathed in dark wrappings.

"Interesting beyond all these are the Arab women flitting like ghosts from one shadowy corner to another, the folds of their haiks concealing all the glories of their indoor dress, so that in the street the only sign of riches lies in the daintiness of the French shoes and the fact that the haick is pure silk and the little veil over the face of a finer material."—Chicago News.

HARD QUESTIONS.

They Sound Simple, but You May Find the Answers Elusive.

"How many holes are there in a laced boot of the ordinary type? Do you know how many there are in the pair you are wearing? That is another question—and it is a little ambiguous, for the average man's ordinary laced boots are generally given away by his wife before he has had time to count the holes. "Which of the feet of a horse touch the ground in trotting?" asks the examiner. You may imagine the whole class raising arms and shouting, "All of 'em!"

Any one man may fog another with ignorance, for our knowledge is in patches. Is it worth your while, supposing you have any business to carry through, to ascertain how many V's there are on a clock face? Do you want to know how many ribs there are in the cover of your umbrella? This is the umbrella maker's business. You want only to find the time of day and avoid the rain. "Thousand words," says an editor to the amateur writer, who may be an umbrella maker. It happens many times a day. The amateur never knows what exertion and what space this means. But the journalist knows exactly the amount of gray matter, black ink and white paper the demand implies. How many words are there in this paragraph? Now—quick!

THE JAPANESE GIRL.

She Is Gentleness Itself, With an Air of Dainty Modesty.

There were not many Japanese women at the party, which made me wonder, considering the fact that there were hundreds of men present, but perhaps the absence of the many might be explained by the uncomfortable and self conscious air of the few who were there in most unaccustomed foreign finery. Not that they wore it so badly. Not at all. That is a fiction of the foreign woman who is pleasantly blinded to the imperfections of her own kind.

Of course there are no Japanese girls with Gibson figures of lissom grace and Fifth avenue strides of splendid freedom, but the same thing may be said of many other women in many other climes. Everybody cannot be an American girl, you know, and I declare I think the Japanese girl runs some of her European sisters a very close second in her ability to wear ungraceful clothes as gracefully as possible with very limited assistance from Mother Nature. All Japanese waist lines run up in front and all Japanese girls are "pigeon toed," but all Japanese girls are gentleness itself, and their dainty modesty serves to conceal a multitude of peculiarities.—Leslie's Weekly.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES.

A Text From Which Is Spun Lots of Stuff and Nonsense.

I take no stock in the lamentation of the sentimentalists about what they call "the good old times." There is a deal of stuff and nonsense trolled off on this text. Every man over fifty who is not precisely a boor is described as "a gentleman of the old school." We need but turn to the English satirists from Fielding to Thackeray to learn that all the essential ingredients of "Vanity Fair" had their existence 100 or 200 years ago. In the proportion that there were more nature and coarser fiber there were livelier doings. In proportion that there were fewer dramatic persons upon the stage there was better play for the individual. I confess that I like a little blood in mine. Sincerity even in wickedness has a flavor quite its own. But he who fails to see the world as it is and refuses to take it as he finds it falls inevitably betwixt the three legged stool of a very false philosophy and the high backed chair of a very ill judged perversity, with consequences sometimes serious and always humiliating. —Henry Watterson in Louisville Courier-Journal.

MAKING PIPE ORGANS.

Interesting Work That Is Done In the Voicing Room.

Both the metal and wooden pipes of a pipe organ are made on the self same principle of the willow whistles that every man made when he was a boy, and so, after all, a pipe organ, the mightiest musical instrument yet invented, is but the evolution of that primitive pipe of Pan, the willow whistle.

The most interesting place in an organ factory is the voicing room. Up to the time the pipes enter this room they are as dumb as broomsticks. Here the breath of life is breathed into them, and they are made to speak, each in the voice intended by its maker. Here the big fat pipes are taught to thunder out their diapason and those scarce the diameter of a slate pencil and one-half an inch long to utter their shrill whistle and others the thousands of varying tones between. And not only must the pipes of one stop speak correctly as individuals and members of their own particular family, but they must be in accord with all the hundreds of others in whose midst they are to live. To see that they do this is the work of a man whose ear is keen to the slightest variation and who must know why a pipe does not speak as it should and how to make it. One by one the pipes are set upon the wind chest standing here, with the bellows and all the internal mechanism of an organ properly adjusted and with a keyboard in front of him the voicer tests each one. By changing the size and shape of the aperture through which the wind passes he governs the tone until it is exactly what it should be, a task which only a man with the nicest sense of sound can accomplish.

STOMACH TROUBLES.

Mrs. Sue Martin, an old and highly respected resident of Faisonia, Miss., was sick with stomach trouble for more than six months. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured her. She says: "I can now eat anything I want and am the proudest woman in the world to find such a good medicine."

A Kind Voice.

There is no power of love so hard to get and to keep as a kind voice. A kind hand is deaf and dumb. It may be rough in flesh and blood, yet do the work of a soft heart and do it with a soft touch. But there is no one thing that love so much needs as a sweet voice to tell what it means and feels, and it is hard to get and keep it in the right tone. One must start in youth and be on the watch night and day, at work and at play, to get and keep a voice that shall speak at all times the thoughts of a kind heart. It is often in youth that one gets a voice or a tone that is sharp, and it sticks to him through life and stirs up ill will and grief and falls like a drop of gall on the sweets of home. Watch it day by day as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in days to come than the best pearl hid in the seas. A kind voice is to the heart what light is to the eye. It is a light that sings as well as shines.—Elihu Burritt.

CAUTION!

Persons when traveling should exercise care in the use of drinking water. As a safeguard it is urged that every traveler secure a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy before leaving home, to be carried in the hand luggage. This may prevent distressiug sickness and annoying delay.

Whose Key Unlocked the Drawer?

Here is a true story told by a doctor This doctor had a patient, a brother physician, who was ill of a disease no one has ever cured yet. The sick man realized that his case was hopeless and he knew, too, that before he died he would go through horrible convulsions. He begged his friend to kill him in order to spare his wife the sight of anything so unforgettably hideous, and the physician, bound by his code of ethics, refused. The sick man begged his wife to let him have his revolver, but she refused. The physician locked the drawer of the bureau in which it lay and gave the wife the key. Two days later the sick man shot himself, and the revolver he used was his own. He had unlocked the drawer.

"We found the key in it," said the doctor. "It was not the one I had given to the wife. I took it, and when I had a chance I went quietly into the room occupied by the man's mother. The key exactly fitted the lock of her bureau. That's all I know, except that the mother came out of the house with her bonnet and cloak on two minutes before her son shot himself."—Washington Post.

LEST WE

forget—Baby is restless, can't sleep at night, won't eat, cries spasmodically. A bottle of Whit 's Cream Vermifuge never fails to cure. Every mother should give her baby White's Cream Vermifuge. So many times when the baby is pale and fretful the mother does not know what to do. A bottle of this medicine would bring color to his cheeks and laughter to his eyes. Give it a trial.

A MOST WORTHY ARTICLE.

When an article has been on the market for years and gains friends every year, it is safe to call this medicine a worthy one. Such is Ballard's Horehound Syrup. It positively cures coughs and all pulmonary diseases. One of the best known merchants in Mobile, Ala., says: "For five years my family has not been troubled with the winter coughs; we owe this to Ballard's Horehound Syrup. I know it has saved my children from many sick spells."

Menagerie Menus.

Catering to animals requires both a plentiful and varied supply of foods, as may be seen from this report of material fed at the London Zoological gardens last year. For the flesh eating guests there were supplied 144 tons of horseflesh, nearly 9 tons of goatflesh and 9,530 chicken heads. Fourteen and a half tons of fish, in addition to 1,260 pints of shrimps, furnished the water fowl with their daily fare, while 297 loads of hay and 6,030 bunches of greens supplied the ruminants. Other items on the list were 872 pounds of grapes, 498 pounds of sugar, 6,262 loaves of bread, 5,086 quarts of milk, 803 pounds of crackers and more than 33,000 eggs. The chicken heads were for the various members of the rat family, the eggs were fed to the birds, and the shrimps formed the easiest way to the affections of the flamingoes.

Humility and a Hair Shirt.

"The bishop of Arichat," said Father Burke, "is a most unassuming creature—a man who keeps the stone in his episcopal ring turned against his palm, so that he may not be recognized as a bishop."

"He must be an extraordinary person," Stephen Essex, the Methodist parson, admitted.

"It is his humility. I am told he wears a hair shirt the year round."

"Is that an evidence of humility?" Stephen asked, with an incredulous smile.

"Try it and see," the priest advised. "Have you tried it, Father Burke?"

"Yes, and one day's trial convinced me that I was neither a saint nor a rhinoceros," he said, with a wry face.—From "The Bishop's Niece," by George H. Picard.

WOUNDS, BRUISES AND BURNS

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery an triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is anti-septic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail.

The Flying Fish.

The flying fish when in the air uses its pectoral fins precisely as a boy does a kite, the weight of the fish's body taking the place of the string. As a boy runs when he lets a kite go, so the flying fish makes a preliminary rush through the water before ascending into the air. In this way as it leaves the surface air impinges upon the lower area of the fin wings, carrying the body upward and onward with a gliding motion. The anatomical structure of the flying fish is such that it cannot flap its "wings," and so it possesses little or no guiding power when in flight. This accounts for the fact that it frequently finds its way through ships' open ports or down skylights or lands helplessly upon deck.

showed, at the battle of Austerlitz, he was the greatest leader in the world. Ballard's Snow Liniment has shown the public it is the best Liniment in the world. A quick cure for Rheumatism, Sprains, Burns, Cuts, etc. A. C. Pitts, Rodessa, La., says: "I use Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family and find it unexcelled for sore chest, headache, corns, in fact for anything that can be reached by a liniment."

Hans Christian Andersen.

A critic writes of Hans Christian Andersen: "His vanity was perhaps his most salient characteristic. He was photographed scores of times in every position and costume, and he never wearied of new presentments of his strong but unhandsome features. His whims were legion. He had a morbid horror of being buried alive and always set a slip of paper by his bedside bearing the words, 'Seg es skindod' ('I am in a trance'). His hosts often found him an exacting guest, but his little failings were easily pardoned for the sake of his genius and his childlike nature."

NOTHING TO FEAR

The question of injurious substances in medicines which has been agitating the minds of many people, does not concern those who use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give it to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a world-wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup and can always be relied upon.

An Irish Incident.

"Driver," said an English tourist who was being driven on a jaunting car through the Donegal highlands, "I notice that when you speak to your friends whom you meet on the road you invariably do so in Irish, but when you address your horse you do so in English. How is this?" To which came the retort: "Musha, now thin isn't English good enough for him?"

Good Idea.

"The ancient Chaldeans," observed the professor, "used to write their letters on bricks."

"And a good idea too," chimed in practical Mr. Graball. "Then when a girl sent a fellow's letters back to him he could use 'em to build a stable or something."

JULIUS CESAR

Act Quickly

Look out for that [illegible] it comes some of these days we can't tell you that [illegible] tomorrow.

Prepare now while you are able to provide for the rainy day and an investment that carries with it material benefits and proves its value from the minute you buy the stock.

Smith's Cash Store is well and favorably known all over the West—its reputation is of the best and its volume of business it is making tremendous strides forward every year. Some five years ago the stock was selling for $5.00 a share. Today the price is $10.00 a share. These figures demonstrate what a thriving institution is this biggest Mail Order House on the Pacific Coast.

Each share of stock is guaranteed to earn 6 per cent a year. But the greatest benefit is derived by the stockholder from the discounts given to the holders of five or more shares of stock. You can buy anything to eat, use or wear at the same price the goods would cost your local dealers. We call them "Owner's Prices."

Suppose you buy goods that altogether cost $50 at our wholesale rate. If you are a stockholder you get a discount amounting to $2.50, and your bill is only $47.50. The saving you will make in one year in addition to the earnings will in all probability more than cover the investment.

Year after year you will be effecting big savings. But should hard times knock at your door—and you must not be too sure that something of that sort will not happen—think what it will mean to you to be able to buy everything at cost prices. It might be the very thing that would help you to survive the period of distress.

We are increasing the amount of our capital stock. We are telling you about the stock because we think you ought to invest for your own sake. You couldn't buy stock in any other concern that would pay you so well.

It will not be long before the price of the stock is advanced. You know that means there are not many days remaining in which you can take advantage of this great offer.

For your convenience we are printing a coupon which you ought to fill out—it does not obligate you in any way. Send it at once.
